

About Lurca Ceramic Tiles

The brand Lurca Ceramic Tiles was created in São Paulo in 2010 as an option of wall coating that could give an artistic and quality character to surfaces.

The ceramic tiles have authorial design and are inspired by the brazilian modernist tiling, characterized by its geometrical drawings. The units can be placed in different ways and make amazing panels with rythm and movement.

The pieces combine aesthetic and functionality. The Lurca ceramic tiles are printed with silk screen techniques and burnt at 940 degrees, resulting in a durable and low maintenance material.

With many works done and frequently present in the media, Lurca has been consolidated in the latest years as one of the main options of wall coating that incorporates art to architecture.

The brand received in 2019 the IF Design Award's prize, one of the most important design awards worldwide.
